Professional Experience:

Attorney Dong Yanqing holds a Bachelor of Law from China University of Political Science and Law, and both an LL.M. and a Ph.D. in Law from theTransnational Law and Business University(Korea). After graduation, she served as a lecturer at China University of Political Science and Law and as a part-time lecturer at Transnational Law and Business University(Korea). She began her legal practice in 2010 and joined Beijing DHH Law Firm in 2015.

With extensive experience in handling various cases, Attorney Dong has built expertise in enterprise restructuring and bankruptcy, corporate dissolution and liquidation, corporate investment and financing, corporate governance, and foreign-related commercial litigation and arbitration. She provides legal services to domestic and international clients, working proficiently in English. Known for her meticulous, pragmatic, and rigorous approach, she has earned widespread recognition and praise from clients.

In representing debtor clients in liquidation and bankruptcy matters, Attorney Dong combines litigation expertise with non-litigation methods such as due diligence to help clients comprehensively assess their financial status, debts, claims, and shareholder contributions before initiating bankruptcy proceedings. She assists in addressing existing issues, responding to litigation and creditor claims, and conducting lawful debt repayments to mitigate potential legal risks for shareholders and executives.

For creditor clients, she adopts a commercial perspective, utilizing bankruptcy and related procedures to maximize debt recovery. When advising restructuring investors, she focuses on aligning bankruptcy procedures with investment objectives to safeguard clients'interests.
