Fields of Specialization?

Du Yunhua has over 15 years of experience providing legal services to large multinational Japanese companies. Her casework includes foreign investment, mergers and acquisitions, corporate mergers and divisions, liquidation of large Japanese company factories, international litigation, arbitration, and she is adept at resolving complex labor issues. In recent years, she has assisted numerous Japanese companies in implementing compliance systems and has been responsible for investigating several internal corporate whistleblowing cases, accumulating extensive practical experience in handling compliance issues. She serves industries such as automotive, pharmaceuticals, logistics, international trade, e-commerce, and finance, and her professional and meticulous services have been fully affirmed and highly praised by clients. She also has been selected as a member of the Foreign Affairs Lawyer Talent Pool by the Beijing Bar Association.

DHH law firm has established an office in Tokyo since 2019 and has close cooperation with several Japanese law firms. The Japan Business Department and Tokyo office of DHH can provide the following legal services (for business involving Japanese law, we will arrange suitable Japanese lawyers to work with us to provide services for our clients):

- Providing comprehensive legal services for investments in Japan, including preliminary legal research and consultation, handling company establishment procedures, local tax compliance, and labor issues.
- Participating in communications and negotiations with Japanese counterparts.
- Offering daily legal advice and compliance services for businesses and individuals investing in Japan.
- Handling international marriage and family matters, cross-border inheritance, and notarization and authentication by embassies and consulates.
- Providing various civil, commercial, and criminal legal services under Chinese law for Chinese citizens in Japan.
- Consulting and agency services for Chinese citizens applying for permanent residency in Japan.
- Representing in international arbitration and mediation.
